Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claim 2, drawn to nucleic acids, classified in class 435, subclass 91.1.
- II. Claims 19-36, drawn to a method for selection of dsRNA, classified in class 435, subclass 6.
- III. Claims 38, drawn to a method for target gene inhibition, classified in class 536, subclass 24.5.
 - Applicants are additionally required to elect a single SEQ ID No. with the elected Group (see, e.g., claims 2, 20).

Please Note: These are not species elections.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the methods of these different Groups are unrelated as they comprise distinct steps and produce different biological or biochemical outcomes, which demonstrate that each method has a different mode of operation. The methodology necessary for each of these distinct methods differs significantly: method for selection of dsRNA (Group II); method for target gene inhibition (Group III). Each method comprises distinct steps that are not present in the other methods, and measure different and distinct biological or biochemical outcomes. Therefore, each method is divergent in steps. For these reasons the inventions of II and III are patentably distinct.

Inventions Groups I and II, III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the nucleic acid compositions can be used as hybridization probes for diagnostic purposes, and for therapeutic purposes.

Pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 121 and 37 C.F.R. 1.141, the different SEQ ID Nos and target genes encompassed by claims 2, 19-36, and 38 are subject to restriction. In the instant case, one (1) independent and distinct nucleotide sequence will be examined in a single application without restriction. Those sequences which are patentably indistinct from the sequence or region selected by the applicant will also be examined.

Claims 2, 19-36, and 38 specifically embrace different polynucleotides with different SEQ ID Nos. Each of these polynucleotides and corresponding target gene sequence or subsequence is considered to be structurally independent, because each is represented by a unique nucleotide sequence. Furthermore, a search of all the sequences claimed presents an undue burden on the Patent and Trademark Office to search and examine. In view of the foregoing, applicants are required to elect up to ONE (1) SEQ ID No. or corresponding polynucleotide.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejections are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowances are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
